

On April 28, at eight-thirty in the evening, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Chamberlain, 242 West Ninety-ninth street, New York city, Miss Maudie McAndless, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. McAndless of Honolulu, was married to Harry Martin Hephurn of the revenue cutter service.

Arrangements had been made to have the wedding take place at the house of the bride's parents in Honolulu in June, but owing to the illness of the groom the plans were changed. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Morris Kincaid, of Charlotte, North Carolina, formerly of Honolulu, in the presence of about thirty members of the two families and intimate friends, including Hon. W. P. Hephurn of Iowa and Mrs. Hephurn, grandparents of the groom, and J. S. McAndless of Honolulu.

The room in which the ceremony was performed was decorated with apple blossoms and southern smilax. The bride entered with her father, wearing an exquisite robe of white embroidered satin chiffon. Her tulle veil was held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her maid of honor and only attendant was her cousin, Miss Mary O'Brien of Parkersburg, West Virginia, who wore a dainty net dress and carried pink roses. Mrs. McAndless wore a beautiful gown of Chantilly lace over cream satin. Hephurn Chamberlain served his cousin as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Hephurn will spend their honeymoon in the East and later go to California and Honolulu.

It would take a facile pen to describe in full the clever things the St. Andrew's ladies are planning and working out for the international fete to be given on Friday evening. Many new features will be given, and the old ones will be so cunningly presented as to look new. The refreshments at each booth will be dainty and characteristic. Everybody has been so willing to do their part to make the whole a success that the ladies have gathered together a great many of Honolulu's loveliest and most talented young people for the occasion. Some few young men have proven bashful as to letting their names appear in print, but it will pay to watch their antics.

Mrs. W. F. Frear has consented to take part in the Colonial booth. Much interest has been manifested in the preparation of costumes, which will alone be worth the price of the admission ticket.

The commanding officer, officers and ladies of Fort Shafter were hosts at a beautifully arranged reception and ball given on Thursday evening, May 19. The administrative building was lighted for the first time with electricity, the fixtures having just been completed in the building; additional light was turned on the animated scene. The headquarters of the Kahuiki reservation is a handsome structure under ordinary circumstances, but with the many and complete electric bulbs those of the large galleries shining through Japanese lanterns of pretty design, the building in its entertainment decorations of palms, banana and pepper tree foliage, with its brilliant lighting, presented a magnificently beautiful appearance. As the hundreds of guests arrived at the ball they were received and made welcome by the gracious line of the receiving party. Music was furnished by the band of the Fifth Cavalry, which came over from the Lelehu reservation. Dancing was in order, and an elegant supper was served during the evening. A list of the guests presented included many of Fort Shafter, Schofield Barracks, Fort De Russy, Camp Very, and scores from Honolulu. The evening's social success will be written on the pages of the "Model Post's" records as one of the most delightful in its history.

Captain Charles C. Walcott, jr., Fifth Cavalry, and Mrs. Charles C. Walcott, jr., of Schofield Barracks, were house guests of Capt. and Mrs. George D. Moore at Fort Shafter during the past week.

Capt. Wallace B. Seales, of the Fifth Horse, of the Lelehu reservation, was among the visitors to Fort Shafter during the past week. Captain Seales, with others of Schofield Barracks, "came over" to attend the ball on Thursday evening.

An attractive contrast was noted in the uniforms worn by the different branches of the United States service at the memorial ceremony held at St. Andrew's Cathedral in memory of King Edward VII. on Friday morning. The Army officers appeared clothed in spotless white, the full-dress uniform as prescribed according to regulations for the tropics, while the United States Navy officers and the Marine officers wore their full-dress uniforms of blue. The contrast, whether intended or not, served a pleasing military feature and object lesson of the various uniforms of America's service men.

Capt. George D. Moore, Twentieth Infantry, and Mrs. Moore, of Fort Shafter, anticipate leaving for the mainland in June. Captain Moore is the ranking captain at the post, and with Mrs. Moore, their departure will be regretted by a circle of friends.

A very prettily arranged dinner was given last Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Adams in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Auerbach, who have been spending their honeymoon in Honolulu and who left on the Korea yesterday. After dinner the party occupied a box at the opera-house and spent a very enjoyable evening.

Sonoma Republican—Miss A. Margaret Dietz, familiarly known to her Sonoma County friends as Miss Daisy Dietz, arrived in Santa Rosa on the evening train Tuesday. She is a guest at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barrows. Miss Dietz came over from her home at Honolulu on the Wilhelm, arriving in the metropolis Tuesday.

day. She is en route to Ross Fork, Idaho, where she will spend the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Werner Dietz. The latter was formerly Miss Edith Barrows. Miss Dietz will remain here to enjoy the carnival and rest before resuming her journey. Miss Dietz is a well known young lady in this city and vicinity.

Chronicles—Miss Jennie Crocker will leave for the East tomorrow and a crowd of friends from Burlingame will be at the depot to wish her bon voyage. In New York she will attend the wedding of Miss Eleanor Alexander and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and the reception to follow at the home of Miss Crocker's aunt, Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, who is also an aunt of the bride. Later Miss Crocker will go to London to visit Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead Reid and her cousins, the Countess Granville and Mrs. John Ward.

Mrs. Harold Castle entertained with a luncheon yesterday afternoon in compliment to Miss Irene Fisher at which covers were laid for Miss Wilhelmina Tenney, Miss Irene Fisher, Miss White, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Vera Damon, Mrs. Harold Dillingham, Mrs. Gustav Schaefer and the hostess.

Miss Genevieve Stehman, daughter of Doctor and Mrs. Henry R. Stehman of Pasadena, California, arrived on the Wilhelm and later went to Kahuiki where she will be the house guest of Mrs. Rufus Spalding, formerly Miss Elsa Behr of Pasadena.

Miss Hazel Hoffman and Miss Flossy Hoffman are being welcomed by their friends after a two and one-half year visit in Hongkong, China. Miss Hazel's engagement was recently announced to Lieut. William Munter of the United States Revenue Cutter Service, but the date for the wedding has not been set.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Jewell Lowry entertained with a dinner party for twenty on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Walter Frear was the hostess at an informal little dinner party on Wednesday evening, and also at a luncheon on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Parker Currier of San Francisco, who have been for some months cruising through the South Seas, are scheduled to arrive here the early part of next month, and intend to spend four weeks here before returning to the Coast.

Miss Blanche Soper has issued invitations for a tea to be given on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Alice Spalding, the bride-elect of Lieut. George Bowen of Fort Shafter, will be the guest of honor at a luncheon to be given on Wednesday by Miss Irma Ballentyne.

Mrs. Carrie Jacobs-Bond of Chicago arrived on the Wilhelm and is to be the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Tenney for some time. Mrs. Tenney, Mrs. Jacobs-Bond and Captain Johnson of the Wilhelm returned yesterday from a visit to the volcano.

The ladies of the Outrigger Club will now begin to assist in the affairs of the big carnival of June, which is the Outrigger Club grounds. Mrs. Soper, the acting president of the Women's Auxiliary; Mrs. Joseph Gilman, Mrs. L. L. McAndless, Mrs. Hobdy, and a number of the members will organize this week to outline the parts they will take in the affair.

There will be a regatta during the afternoon, an illuminated canoe carnival in the evening, dancing at both the Seaside and Moana Hotels, a chowder in the big pavilion of the Outrigger Club and an entertainment in which the members of the McRae stock company will assist, Henry McRae having offered to close the opera-house for that evening. Over six hundred tickets have already been disposed of and the success of the entertainment seems assured.

The guests of honor at an elegant dinner given on board the Portuguese cruiser San Gabriel on Thursday evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Silva of Elele, Kauai, and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Seabury.

Mr. and Mrs. Harshman who were passengers on the Tenyo Maru were the guests while in the city of Messrs. Sewall, Strange and Jewell of the Honolulu Gas Company for a trip to all of the sights near town including the Park, the Aquarium and Waikiki beach. Mr. Harshman has been for some time past the manager of the Masuda Flour Mills at Kobe, Japan, and is on his way to take charge of large mills in Montana.

Bill Buster's Letter to His Father---Continued.

Dear Pa:—You remember when I was in school and we had a few lessons in chemistry, I told you I couldn't see where it would do anybody any good to learn that stuff. Well, I've found out how mistaken I was. I'll tell you when a boy is in school he ought to learn all he can, as he will never know when he needs it. Who would ever think they would need a chemist in the gas business? But I've found out he is just as necessary as the man that makes it.

First of all, the gas being made from oil, the oil has to be tested, for you can see if they didn't have good oil they couldn't have good gas. Then, as the gas is being made, samples are taken and tested to find if it has been properly made and cleaned. Then the substances which are used to clean the gas have to be tested themselves, to see if they are all right, and so on, always keeping a record so the manager can see at any time what is being done.

You see, if the gas wasn't kept clean the pipes would all get filled up, and then they would have to dig them all up and put down new ones. I'll tell you, Pa, I like it better every day. There is always something new to learn, and everybody around the works is doing his best, every man working like the whole thing depended on him. The man in charge is a dandy, for if anything goes wrong he knows just what to do, and you can see that is very important when you are serving the public, for, as the boss says, what they want is gas and not excuses.

I believe that when the public knows that if they use gas they get a fuel with all the dirt, ashes, smoke and trouble removed, and all they need to start a fire is a match, everybody will use it instead of any other fuel.

With love,

BILL.

Frances Morrison, Manager. Ye Arts and Crafts Shop

The social feature of the month in San Francisco was the announcement of the engagement of Miss Helene Irwin and Templeton Crocker. Already the bride-elect is being made the motive for pre-nuptial entertainments and was the guest of honor at an elegant luncheon given by Mrs. Baldwin at the St. Francis Hotel and also at a dinner party given by Miss Jennie Crocker at Uplands. The date of the wedding is still uncertain and no announcement has been made. If it were planned for the immediate future it would have to be a quiet home affair on account of the recent death of Mrs. Edward Moore Robinson of Philadelphia, an aunt of the bride-elect, so intimate friends of the family think that the wedding will probably be deferred until next year. Miss Irwin has gone to Santa Barbara with her mother and Mr. Crocker is at his home in Uplands for the summer instead of going with his sister to Europe as he had planned.

Ensign and Mrs. Charles Conway Hartigan (Margaret Thompson) who stole a match on their San Francisco friends by getting quietly married at Benicia, are receiving the congratulations of the army and navy contingent of that city. During the absence of her husband on the Yorktown to Panama Mrs. Hartigan will stop with her aunt, Mrs. E. B. Thomas.

Miss Eva Lindeman, the California singer, is to give a song recital tomorrow evening in the Young Hotel roof pavilion, the occasion being "Ladies' Night" of the Men's League.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Afong, accompanied by their little son, were departing passengers on the Sierra Wednesday. They will visit in San Francisco until the first of September, and will then go to New York for a visit with Mrs. Afong's relatives, and do not expect to return to Honolulu for a year.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Grace Rowley, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Rowley of Los Angeles, to Thomas C. Ridgeway, formerly of Hilo. The wedding will take place on the second of June in the Immanuel Presbyterian Church at Los Angeles, and will be followed by a big reception at the Ebell clubhouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Hephurn (Madge McAndless) will probably arrive here in the latter part of next month, as Mr. Hephurn has resigned as lieutenant in the United States revenue cutter service to accept the position of manager of the Hawaiian Electric Company made vacant by the resignation of A. Gartley.

Mrs. Lorrie Thurston was the hostess on Wednesday at a tea given in honor of the Misses Shipman of Hawaii, who sailed yesterday on the Korea for the mainland. Those present were the Misses Shipman, Misses Ward, Miss Sara Lucas, Miss Hattie Lucas, Miss Helen Alexander, Miss Vera Damon, Miss Alice Spalding, Miss Hart and Miss McStocker.

The members of the Men's League are rejoicing over having obtained Sydney Hobson to appear at the concert following their "Ladies' Night" dinner tomorrow evening at the Young Hotel. Hobson will play the accompaniments for Miss Eva Lindeman, and will also play a solo, playing "Barcarolle," by Moszkowski.
